SAVE POUNDS ON YOUR MOUNDS

With the current focus on natural play, many designers and architects are looking to be creative with play area landscapes.

A simple way to create interest is to use mounds: children love to play on them, and with the addition of rocks, logs or pipes they can look superb.

However, clients can be concerned about the maintenance and the long-term look of grassed mounds.

New turf is very difficult to establish on heavily used or dry mounds, and even if it does gain a foothold, it often suffers badly from erosion when many little feet are constantly running over it. If the natural grass does manage to establish, and stands up to the wear and tear, the next difficulty is mowing evenly on an incline.

Luckily at Notts Sport we have the solution with VHAF NottsSward, an incredibly versatile synthetic carpet that can be used in many ways. Once filled with sand, the carpet offers superb resistance to vandalism – including knife or fire attack.

It is an ideal surface solution for mounds as it can easily be fitted around any shape, and will mould itself to the contours of the area.

The result is a natural looking surface that also offers strength, durability and the added security of resistance to damage from vandals with minimal maintenance.
